Learning a New Language

Learning a new language has always been Jane's dream, and last year she finally started studying Spanish. She chose Spanish because it is widely spoken around the world and could be very useful for travel, work, and meeting new people. Jane's interest began when she watched Spanish films and listened to Latin music, which made her curious about the language and culture. To begin with, she found an online course that offered interactive lessons and the chance to practise with native speakers.

At the start, it was quite challenging. The pronunciation was difficult, especially some sounds and unfamiliar accents. Jane found it hard to remember basic phrases. Her tutor, Maria, was very patient and encouraged her to practice every day. She suggested using some language apps to make learning more fun and effective. Jane spent about 30 minutes daily studying, focusing on vocabulary, grammar, and listening exercises.

After a few weeks she began to make progress. Jane could make simple conversations about herself, her hobbies, and daily routines. She also joined an online language exchange group where she talked with native Spanish speakers. One woman from Mexico helped Jane understand common phrases and expressions, while Jane shared English phrases with her. It was exciting to connect with people from different cultures through language.

To improve even more, Jane started watching Spanish TV shows and films without subtitles. At first, it was difficult, but soon she could understand more words and phrases. Jane also travelled to a Spanish-speaking country for a week, staying with a host family. Ordering food at restaurants and asking for directions gave her real-life practice. The locals were friendly and kindly corrected her mistakes.

Of course, there were some challenges. Sometimes Jane forgot words during conversations and felt nervous. Jane also attended local meetings where they practiced speaking Spanish. They helped her build confidence and improve speaking skills.

Now, after a year of study, Jane can read simple books and understand podcasts in Spanish. Learning this language has opened many doors for Jane: she has made friends worldwide and even got a job that needs speaking English and Spanish. Jane believes learning a language is not just about words but also about understanding and connecting with others. Now Jane is planning to start learning Arabic. It is a long journey, but it is full of joy and discovery.

A. Jane started learning Spanish because ...

- 1) she wanted to sing songs in Spanish.

- 3) it was useful for travelling and working.

B. When Jane started the course she thought ...

- 1) it was too easy.
- 2) pronunciation and basic phrases were difficult.
- 3) native speakers were unfriendly.
- 4) apps for learning Spanish were boring.

C. Jane realised that she began to make progress when ...

- 1) she focused on listening exercises.
- 2) she had learnt some basic phrases.
- 3) a woman from Mexico helped Jane to improve her pronunciation.
- 4) she had learnt to speak about her hobbies and routines.

D. Jane felt nervous when ...

- 1) she couldn't remember some words.
- 2) she tried local food.
- 3) she attended local meetings.
- 4) she watched films in Spanish.

E. Now Jane believes learning a language ...
